July 17–23, 2005

It starts with a VISION...

to be an effective and confident leader creating trust and safety among those you lead.

The mission ...

to develop leaders through learning and action who will lead with creativity and integrity.

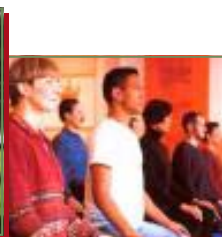

How will this happen...

- Through experiential workshops
 - Low Ropes Course
 - Team Building Exercises
 - White Water Rafting
 - Stress reducing activities—

Yoga

Meditation

Journaling

Your outcomes ...

- Identify your leadership style
- Expand your potential
- Learn the four roles of leadership
- Increase your confidence
- Develop team building skills
- Improve communication skills
- Learn to set goals and achieve them

Why attend...

Years of experience in conducting youth leadership and educational programs enables us to teach the REAL skills in the REAL world. Skills that will have impact. We know a leader has to have great communication skills, know how to ask questions and get results, know how to build trust and work together for a common goal. A leader has to be willing to take action! We'll teach you the Four Action Roles of Leadership.

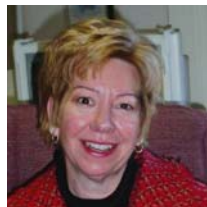

A little about your leaders...

Laird P. Warner, Ed.D.,

has over 26 years of experience as a chief operating officer in the field of education. During the past ten years he was superintendent of Rose Tree Media School District and responsible for the leadership of 700 employees and 4,000 students.

Mary Jane Saras, B.A., LCSW,

is the Director of The Country Place. With years of experience in group development and group process, Mary Jane brings knowledge and skill to Young Leaders in Action.
